

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

LearnWorld, LLC Acquires Life After Teaching™: Expanding Support for Teachers Transitioning to New Careers

September 24, 2024 – Winter Park, Florida – LearnWorld, LLC, the company behind the Teacher Career Transition Academy, is proud to announce its acquisition of Life After Teaching™, a widely respected brand and community dedicated to helping educators explore new career paths. This strategic acquisition further solidifies LearnWorld's position as the leader in career transition services for teachers, providing even more resources and support to educators navigating this critical phase in their professional lives.

Founded five years ago, Life After Teaching™ has empowered teachers through its free and highly popular Facebook group, Life After Teaching: Educator Options Beyond the Classroom, now the largest group of its kind with over 140,000 members and growing daily. The acquisition of this thriving community enables LearnWorld, LLC to extend its mission by offering a rich blend of personalized coaching, digital resources, and peer support that helps teachers smoothly transition into new careers.

“As we integrate Life After Teaching™ into our portfolio, we're expanding not just our company but our ability to serve a growing number of teachers who are exploring new possibilities beyond the classroom,” said Lisa Harding, CEO of LearnWorld, LLC. “This acquisition strengthens our leadership in the teacher career transition space, building on the trust and community-driven support that Life After Teaching™ has established over the years.”

Strengthening Leadership and Expanding Impact

LearnWorld, LLC has already earned a reputation as a trusted partner for educators seeking career change through its Teacher Career Transition Academy, which provides targeted career coaching, resource-rich webinars, and hands-on support. With the addition of Life After Teaching™, the company is poised to deepen its impact, offering a broader range of services and access to a larger, engaged audience of educators who are actively seeking guidance.

“The Life After Teaching™ community brings with it an incredible network of educators and resources that will allow us to enhance our offerings and meet the growing demand from teachers seeking career transitions,” Harding continued. “Our combined expertise will ensure that teachers have the support they need during this important life change, helping them discover fulfilling new roles in industries beyond education.”

Commitment to Serving Educators

With Life After Teaching™ now part of LearnWorld, LLC, the company is positioned to accelerate its efforts to meet the growing needs of teachers who are eager to transition into new fields. The combination of LearnWorld's structured coaching programs and Life After Teaching™'s established, trusted community ensures that educators have access to the best tools, advice, and peer support available, making LearnWorld the premier destination for teachers exploring career opportunities beyond the classroom.

About LearnWorld, LLC

LearnWorld, LLC is the parent company of the Teacher Career Transition Academy, a comprehensive platform dedicated to helping teachers successfully navigate career changes. Through personalized coaching, interactive webinars, and a supportive community, LearnWorld has helped hundreds of educators find new, fulfilling career opportunities beyond the classroom.

About Life After Teaching™

Life After Teaching™ is a leading resource for teachers transitioning to new careers, particularly through its popular Facebook group, Life After Teaching: Educator Options Beyond the Classroom. With over 140,000 members, it is the largest online community supporting teachers in their pursuit of alternative career paths.

Media Contact: Lisa Harding

CEO, LearnWorld, LLC

lisa@lwtrain.com

www.teachercareertransitionacademy.com